Social Media Content Author

Project Title	Social Media Content Author
Summary	Help us reach a larger audience by researching and creating content for Andersonville National Historic Site's social media platforms and assist park staff with ensuring all social media content meets accessibility standards.
Country	United States

Project Description

If you love bringing history to life through creative writing, then this is the position for you! You will work closely with park rangers at Andersonville National Historic Site to create engaging content for the park's social media platforms, including Facebook, Twitter, and YouTube. Additionally, you will learn how to make social media posts 508 compliant so that the hearing and visually impaired can also enjoy content published across our social media platforms. Making content accessible is a very marketable skillset that is required throughout all government agencies. This is a great opportunity for someone looking for practical experience in interpretive writing and social media management.

This position will require 10 hours of work per week for 26 weeks.
